Report of Expert Talk

Topic Awareness towards Blood stem cell donation

Date: 18/02/2020

Name of Speaker: Ms. Sonali A. Bhandarkar

Dr. D. Y. Patil college of Pharmacy, Akurdi, Pune had arranged a lecture on Blood stem cells donation it was delivered by Ms. Sonali A. Bhandarkar. It's said, we do not live only for ourself, we also have a responsibility towards society. She shared with the students various cases of patients who need compatible stem cells in order to get relief .

DATRI has been saving such lives by organizing camps which are making the aware about the necessity to donate stem cells. On registering for the donating the donors are been medically scanned and they get a barcode which contains their medical information. Further this barcode can be scanned and uploaded on the app which then can be matched with the patients.

The students of D. Y. Patil College of Pharmacy have taken up the social responsibility in association with DATRI. 40 students have registered in their names in the noble cause of stem cell donation that can save lives. DATRI has saved 680 patients till now and is still lending helping hands so that people lead healthier lives.

Ms Sonali Bhandarkar guided the students regarding the importance and Process of donation. We are overwhelmed to contribute this share of us and put steps towards humanity

PROBLEM BASED ASSIGNMENT (CASE STUDY) AS PROBLEM BASED LEARNING

Final Year B. Pharm. Semester- VIII
Subject: Pharmacology- V
Continuous Assessment -2 (Practical)

Roll No. 408

Case statement:
A 52 year old male patient was taking Nitrate for angina pectoris for the last three months. He purchased Sildenafil Tablet (Viagra) as OTC from local chemist shop and consumed it for erectile dysfunction. On next morning he was admitted in ICU because of elevation of angina symptoms.

Q.1.- Identify what happened to the patient (03)
Q.2.- Examine the case to explain the possible mechanism of drug interaction (04)
Q.3.- Illustrate the role of Pharmacist to prevent such cases (03)

(Ans 1) The age of the patient is 52-year old.

- He was taking Nitrate for angina pectoris.
- He consumed Sildenafil tablet (Viagra) for treatment of erectile dysfunction.
- Sildenafil tablet which was consumed by the patient when interacts with Nitrate, it leads to drug-drug interaction.
- Sildenafil along with nitrate increases the symptoms of angina pectoris as the drug-drug interaction leads to formation of symptoms which results into the increase of symptoms of Angina Pectoris.
- The age of the patient is also one of the factor due to which he is in this condition.
- Sildenafil tablet helps in increase of blood pressure which as a result increases the problems caused due to Angina pectoris.

b) Role of Pharmacist:-

- Pharmacist should check prescription of doctor carried by patient.
- He should know about drug-drug interactions between sildenafil and Nitrate.
- He should know the adverse effects of both drugs.
- He should carry knowledge of such odd drug combinations which may lead to such effect.
- He should spread awareness.
- He should inform the patient before giving him the drugs.
- He should ask medical history of patient.
- He should know which drugs patient is already taking.
- He should tell patient about the ingredients of drug.
- He should give him warning about banned drugs.

Ans 2) Drug interaction:-

- Sildenafil and Nitrate leads to drug interaction
  - Combination of Sildenafil & Nitrate increases symptoms of angina pectoris
  - The age of patient also plays important role.
  - Sildenafil leads to increased blood pressure which increases the angina pectoris symptoms.
  - Sildenafil & Nitrate are banned drug combination.
  - They lead to drug-drug interaction.
  - <sup>2x2</sup> Angina pectoris symptoms are increased.
  - Blood pressure, heart rate, Cardiac output increases as a result.
- leads to the formation of the angina pectoris symptoms.
- Thus, this is the possible mechanism of drug interaction.

Introduction:

- Individual health, from a one-size fits all to a tailored approach
- The treatment is future perspective of medicine
- Personalized medicine = precision medicines
- Personalized medicine: treatment or prevention which is developed for only one person. E.g. cancer treatment
- Precision medicine: focus on which approach will be effective for which patient that is generally based on genetic, environmental or life style factors. E.g. pharmacogenomics
- Terms are used interchangeably
- depends on profile and it is a biological approach
- This therapy used when person is at high risk for a particular disease
- More accurate and give better treatment (pro reactive)
- Model for health care with a combination of preventive, personalized, participatory, predictive measures

Aim, objective and definition:

Aim: Revolutionize patient care and develop better preventive and treatment strategies

Objective: Identifying genetic, epigenetic, and clinical information that allows the breakthrough in diseases and goes from that treatment

To reduce trial and error approach

Definition:
The application of genomic and molecular data to better target the delivery of healthcare, facilitate the discovery and clinical testing of new products, and help determine a person's predisposition to particular disease or condition

ERP-COLLPOLL E- LEARNING PLATFORM

The screenshot shows the CollPoll home page for a user named Mrs. Pranita Santosh Shankaratti, AK030040, from the Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences. The interface includes a search bar, navigation icons for 'Ask Question', 'Schedule Event', and 'Post Update', and a sidebar with menu items like Home, Profile, Classroom, Class Attendance, Marks Entering, Calendar, Drive, Campus Help Center, Book a Venue, Payments, and Course Master. The main content area displays two posts from 'Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences' and 'D.Y. Patil College of Pharmacy', both titled 'F. Y. B. Pharm. SPPU Practical Timetable 2022-2023'. A sidebar on the right features a 'Complete 1-Minute Survey' banner and a 'Classes' section for 'Pharmaceutical Analysis - Theory [3.2T]' with details on time, type, and faculty.

The screenshot displays the 'Classroom' page for 'Medicinal Chemistry - Theory [3.5T]'. The page is organized into sections: 'Course Work', 'Resources', 'Quizzes', 'Assignments', 'Analytics', 'Gradebook', and 'Students'. The 'Course Planner' section is active, showing a list of sessions from '1 - Modern concept of rational drug design' to '8 - Student Activity in Class Topic - Basic...'. The current session, 'Antifungal agents (in Class)', is marked as 'Delivered' on 7th Sep 2022. The content includes an introduction, 'Topic Level Outcomes (TLO)' (2.1 (CO4 - Level 3)), and 'Resources' (No Resources Uploaded). A status indicator shows 'Session Delivered as per Plan'.
